Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2009106480A1] The invention relates to a spray gun (10) for dispensing spray material, comprising a housing (16), a receiving device (33) for receiving spray material containers (32a, 32b) of different heights (32a, 32b), a handle (18) for holding the spray gun and a extending device (20) that is provided on the handle for extending the length of said handle in order to adapt the length of said handle to the height (H1, H2) of a spray material container that is received by the receiving device such that the handle and the spray material container form together a support surface for supporting the spray gun. The extension device comprises at least one extension element (38, 60) that is secured to said handle in an adjustable manner in the longitudinal direction of said handle.
