Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2258240A2] The protector (1) has a top side (2) and a lower side (3) and a spaced material provided between upper and lower sides. A coating made of anti-skid material (6) is arranged area-by area on a surface of the mattress protector. A spacer material (4) consists of polyester mono filaments. The upper and lower sides are connected together area by area at a circumference of the mattress protector by a tape (5), where the mattress protector is equipped as a component detachable from the mattress. A thickness of the mattress protector is approximately 3 millimeters.
