Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2261138A1] The container has a cover element i.e. foil, sealing an upper side of a container internal space. Circulating separating elements are arranged on a side of a container base, and an elongate separating unit (6) is formed as a circulating separating wall, where the side is turned towards the container internal space. The separating unit limits an outer container internal space region and an inner container internal space region that is surrounded by the separating unit. The outer internal space region is arranged between a container wall (3) and an outer side of the separating unit.
