Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2275282A1] The device (1) has vapor shields (5, 6) connected to a housing (2) by a hose (4) and fastened at the housing by connecting elements in a non-usage position. The vapor shields are fastened to each other in the non-usage position and in a usage position by the connecting elements. One connecting element is arranged at a side edge of the vapor shields. The connecting elements are arranged at a handle (7) of the vapor shields and guided into a recess at the housing. The connecting elements are formed as form-fit elements and force-fit elements.
