Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2281478A2] The brush has a bristle trim including bristles (13) that project outward from a carrier section along a bristle longitudinal axis (L). The bristles include an eyelash retention part (7) that is attached to a bristle line (6) and designed as a retaining projection. The projection projects from a surface of the line in a direction transverse to a direction of the bristle-longitudinal axis. The surface of the line is viewed toward the longitudinal axis or designed as retaining groove in a front surface of a distal end of the bristles, where the groove is open to the distal end.
