Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2286695A1] The cover (1) has two plates (10, 11) connected through a cross seam (13) and a longitudinal seam (14) to form a cavity (17), where the plates are made of flexible material e.g. cotton, silk and cellulose fiber. The cross and longitudinal seams are extended in cross and longitudinal directions (x, y). The cavity is divided into two chambers (18, 22) through the cross and longitudinal seams. The chambers are filled with filling material (12) e.g. down feather and/or spring, and a filling material (23) i.e. air, respectively, where one of the chambers is limited through the cross seam.
