Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2296133A1] The system has a traversing conduit or slot (11) placed in an upper wall of a hooking profile perpendicular to a group of protuberances (10), a recess (9) of a fixation wall (7) and an internal face (8) of a shell. The conduit or slot is oriented in a direction of the group so as to dismount an identification label holder by insertion of a plane regulation tool by arriving at the protuberance and deforms the fixation wall of the profile in a direction same as a mounting direction for unlocking a connection to dismount the holder.
