Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2298515A1] The method involves inserting the length of food (2) in a cutting device (3) having a rotating knife (5). The cut slices are deposited for forming a portion on the intermediate storage area (15). Multiple slices are delivered to a conveying unit (14), with which the slices are discharged. An independent claim is also included for a device for cutting a length of food into slices.
