Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2298974A1] The fabric (30) has loops (32) whose head part is provided on a top side of a fabric part by weft stitches, where four successive rows of the fabric are subjected to stitching by a micromesh stitch in an even and an odd manner. Thread portions (34, 36) are moved over braces that are provided on a side face of fabric part, where the sum of the yardage of threads of the stitches is lower than 150 decitex. A spandex is provided on the micromesh stitch or the weft stitches. Anti-slip material layers are placed on a top side of the fabric, where the anti-slip material layers are made of silicone. Independent claims are also included for the following: (1) a clothing article comprising an adherence zone carried out in a knitted fabric (2) a method for knitting a knitted fabric.
