Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2299453A2] The electric line (2) comprises an electrical conductor (4), and an insulation casing (8). The line is designed for a predetermined tensile stress, which is received partially on the insulation casing made of plastic. Milled fibers (10) are provided, which are aligned in the longitudinal direction of the line. An independent claim is also included for a method for laying an electric line.
