Abstract (en)
A fixed product holder (10) comprises a product guide (12) for receiving a series of products (30) in linearly movable manner. A product stocking device for this purpose comprises a transport holder (20) with a further product guide (22) on which a series of products (30) is received in linearly movable manner. The transport holder (20) can be coupled (23) at an outer end to the fixed product holder up to a manually releasable coupled position in which the further product guide (22) connects functionally to the product guide (21) of the fixed product holder.
