Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2010015394A1] A device for fastening a pacifier to the clothing of a child, comprising a flexible band, means for fastening to the pacifier at one end of the band and a clip for fastening to the clothing of the child at the other end of the band, comprising a disk-like carrier having two arms on one side that have a claw on each end, wherein said claws can be pivoted from a position close to each other into a position away from each other by actuating at least one spring-elastic arm. When the arm is released, the claws return to the position close to each other.
