Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2312545A1] The detector (1) has a receiving body including a base and a lid (8). An optical part and an adjustment unit are integrated in a front face of the detector. A cover (2) is integrated in the front face of the detector, and is arranged between the base and the lid. The cover is connected to the lid such that the cover is not separated from the detector. The cover is assembled outside of a detection zone in movable manner, where a trace left by the cover is not intersected with the detection zone.
