Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2314759A1] The present invention concerns a laundry drying machine (11) comprising a drum (13) with a cavity (41) for receiving the laundry to be dried, heating means (14) for heating the drying air, a condenser (15) for removing moisture from the drying air and conveying means (16), for successively circulating the drying air through the drum (13), the condenser (15) and the heating means (14), the machine further comprising a collection container (32) for collecting the water condensed in the condenser (15) and a filter (26) for the drying air that exits from the drum (13). Said container (32) has at least one drain (75,175,275) for draining the water contained in the container (32) towards said filter (26).
