Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2316292A1] A boot (30) for football or five- or seven-a-side football comprises a sole (50), an upper (40) associated to the sole which extends substantially continuously in order to cover, in use, at least the instep, the sides of the foot and the back of the heel, and has an upper edge which defines an opening (46) for insertion of the foot. The upper (40) comprises a rear insert (70) which in use covers the back of the heel which rear insert (70) is made of a foldable and/or yielding material destined to be folded towards the inside of the boot in order to enable insertion of the foot into the boot from the rear part of the boot and a front insert (60) which in use covers the instep, also made of a yielding material destined to bind the upper part of the foot uniformly without use of laces and loops and improving comfort and foot-to-ball sensitivity.
