Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2319348A2] The link (10) has an anchoring lever (22) pivotably mounted in a housing (20) along a direction perpendicular to a longitudinal axis, between two positions. An anchoring unit i.e. locking hook (24), of the lever is situated opposite to oblong openings (18) in one of the positions, and defines a space between the oblong openings in the other position. A spring (26) maintains the lever in the former position. A control unit i.e. push-piece, switches the lever from the former position to the latter position. An independent claim is also included for a strap comprising a link.
