Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2322461A1] The casing (1) has spiral-shaped wound layers (3), and a covering layer (2) with width smaller than width of the wound layers. An edge region (7) of the covering layer is moistened with contact adhesive. The covering layer is centrally moistened with commercial adhesive for connection of the wound layers, where edge-sides of the covering layer are moistened with the contact adhesive. The edge region of the covering layer is outwardly curved, flared or bent. The contact adhesive ensures a releasable connection of the covering layer with the wound layers.
