Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2327340A1] The lamp has a light guidance profile with an L-shaped cross section lasting equally over its entire length. The light is emitted from the end surface of the shank of the profile, which is inserted in another shank of the profile by light emitting diodes. The light guidance profile is made of acrylic. An intermediate layer made of plastic, rubber, cork or pasteboard is arranged between the former shank or the latter shank and the mirror. An independent claim is also included for a wall mirror with a frame.
