Abstract (en)
There is provided an injector removal tool for removing an injector from a cylinder head. A support platform is fixed to the cylinder head. A pivot portion is mounted on the support platform. A arm portion is provided so as to rotate on the pivot portion as a fulcrum. A transfer portion is supported on the arm portion at one end in a position lying spaced away from the pivot portion and is locked on the injector at the other end thereof. A force exerted on the one end to rotate the arm portion is transferred as a force to remove the injector at the other end.
