Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2010049165A1] A storage unit (1) for goods, particularly a garage unit for passenger motor vehicles, in which each space is provided by a transport container, wherein rows of stacked transport containers (2) are provided with access faces and a control unit, is to be operated as economically as possible with a corresponding operating unit. This is achieved in that the control unit is designed as a load carrying means (10) for roller pallets, having pivoting arms (12, 13) on the outer edges that center and fix the load carrying means (10) in the container inlet, wherein for conveying the respective roller pallets, lateral friction wheel drives are arranged on the load carrying means (10).
