Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2010063399A1] A hospital bed (1) has a removable headboard (11). The removable headboard is provided with a handle bar (12), the free ends of which sit on the upper frame (4) of the lifter (2). In order to connect the handle bar to the lifter, inserting pins (22) are provided on the lifter. Said inserting pins are designed such that neither during insertion nor during removal of the headboard (11) from the inserting pins any clamping effect can occur.
