Abstract (en)

Disclosed herein is a method for controlling washing machine furnished with liquid detergent dispenser, which allows a liquid detergent or a fabric softener to be supplied in an accurate amount depending on the amount of laundry. The method for controlling washing machine includes detecting a weight of laundry supplied to a drum of the washing machine, determining a supply quantity of liquid detergent depending on the detected weight of laundry, and supplying the liquid detergent to the drum depending on the supply quantity of liquid detergent to perform a washing cycle and a rinsing cycle.
