Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2357293A1] The boarding (1) has an end corresponding to lateral edges (3) that is defined by a rectangular boundary, where the end is closed by a closure (30) integrated and constituted of one piece with a rough timber boarding body. The closure is extended to a height greater than that of the body of the rough timber boarding, and comprises a base (31) located under longitudinal edges (2) to be supported on a supporting element of a joist floor.
