Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2010057739A1] The invention pertains to the field of jewellery, and particularly relates to ring-forming flexible jewellery such as necklaces or bracelets obtained by threading pearls on a link (1). The invention relates to a piece of jewellery including means (40, 50, 23, 24, 21, 13, 14) for placing all the pearls of said piece of jewellery under compression by tensioning the link made of a wear-resistant material. The invention also relates to a method for assembling this type of jewellery that advantageously uses said means and that makes it possible for any person without particular skills and holding a user's manual explaining the method to achieve such a result. The means constituting the jewellery can thus be readily proposed in the form of a kit adapted for mail order selling for people fond of making such fancy jewellery.
