Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2010058134A1] The invention relates to a method for recording data relating to positionable locations. Said method includes the following steps: i) recording main data representing at least one feeling felt by a person in a location, by means of a radiocommunication terminal (T) used by said person and equipped with a positioning device (DL), ii) determining the geographical position of said location by means of the positioning device (DL) of the terminal (T), and iii) storing the main data recorded in correlation with said specific geographical position.
