Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2363176A2] The device (1) has a flipper (3), a force transmission element (4) moving the flipper by muscle strength. A fixing device (5) fixes the force transmission element to a lower leg of a swimmer i.e. diver (2). The force transmission element has a foot section and a flipper section and is formed as a line-shaped bend-free rod. The force transmission element is made of metal, elastomer, wood or fiber reinforced material. An adjusting device is formed at the flipper and the force transmission element for varying an angle between the flipper and the force transmission element.
