Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2363249A1] The handle (1) has a plastic sleeve arranged on a body of a striking tool (2), where the handle realizes elastic deformation capacity, so that positioning of multiple fingers around an oblong slot (1.2) authorizes gripping and deformation of a material part of the handle around the slot. The slot is established over sufficient length to authorize reading of a marking established on the corresponding part of the body of the tools. An elastomer material ring (1.3) is placed in a front part. The slot is made of deformable and flexible material.
