Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2366303A1] The sunshade (1) has a roof panel (5) arranged above a first support arm (8a) and a second support arm (8b) of a clamping frame (3). A third support arm (8) is arranged between the support arms, and runs in a radial plane in a clamped condition. A roof segment section (9a) extends along and overlies on the third support arm and supports two roof panel sections clamped at an angle. The panel sections are clamped between the support arms, where free ends of the panel sections are turned downward, and the support arms limit the roof segment section. An independent claim is also included for a canopy comprising a spacer gap provided between roofs of two adjacent standing sunshades.
