Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2368678A1] The bread slicer (1) has a cutting device which has a cutter that is rotatable around a rotating axis. A feeding area is formed, in which a loaf of a bread to be cut is inserted. A disk support (15) is moved back from the end position in the start position by the weight force of a counter-weight unit. A counter weight of the counter-weight unit is arranged above a receiving area (5) and within a slicer housing (2).
