Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2369119A1] A window blind assembly includes a roller blind unit (4), a curtain member unit (5), and a clamping unit (6). The roller blind unit (4) includes a roller rod (42) that extends horizontally and that is rotatably mounted at or in proximity to an upper edge portion of the window (3), and a roller blind piece (43) a top edge of which is connected to the roller rod (42) and which is able to be wound around and extended from the roller rod (42) . The curtain member unit (5) includes a curtain member (51) having a sheltering portion (511) and a plurality of partitioning portions (512). The clamping unit (6) includes a plurality of connecting members (62) associated respectively with the partitioning portions (512). Each of the connecting members (62) has a confining portion (622), and two securing portions (621) connected to opposite ends of the confining portion (622) and that connect the confining portion (622) to a respective one of the partitioning portions (512).
