Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2372237A1] The mounting frame (100) has a body (10) and wing elements (20,30) that are supported at the body in a movable manner. The mounting frame has a retracted condition with smaller cross section and another extended condition with greater cross section. The former wing element is retracted in the former condition in the smaller cross section of the mounting frame and is fixed at the body. The former wing element is extended in the latter condition over the smaller cross section.
