Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2381056A1] The guiding mechanism has a guide element with a holder, particularly for connecting with the door section (100) and a guide, particularly a guide rail. A brush element (4) is provided relative to the holder such that the guide element is supported with respect to the guide through a brush (106,107) of the brush element. An independent claim is also included for a side sectional door with a T-shaped bar for closing the room.
