Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2387909A2] The system has shoulder straps (3) and fastening belts (4) for fastening at an upper part of a human body. A part of the shoulder straps and belts has fastening straps insertable into accommodators of a rear part (2). An elongate fixing element is guidable through inserted ends of the fastening straps. The slots, fastening straps and fixing element are provided such that the fastening straps are non-executable through slots in the accommodators after arrangement of the fixing element. The fixing element has an operating element for pulling out the fixing element from the fastening straps.
