Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2399481A1] The device has first jaw (1) and second jaw (2) elongated and hinged together such that the jaws are moved between an open position and a closed position in work surfaces (S₁, S₂) arranged next to a treatment area (T). A smoothing plate (5) is placed in one of the work surfaces and articulated on the first jaw. Restraining units (11) are interposed between the smoothing plate and the first jaw such that the smoothing plate and the first jaw are set in a rest position. A rotation axis (A) is set parallel to the work surface of the smoothing plate and a longitudinal center plane (M) of the work surface.
