Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2407940A2] The device has a cash register (19) positioned in a housing for accommodation of a supplied coin money (M) in a receiving position. The register is removed from the housing to remove the money. A locking device (26) secures the cash register before unauthorized removal of the register in the position. A dispenser (24) is arranged at the register and filled with a deactivation unit (U) for the coin money. The dispenser cooperates with the locking device such that the dispenser releases the deactivation unit during unauthorized removal of the register.
