Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2426292A2] The apparatus has an angle portion having two limb sections (5,6) that are fitted to an area of inner corner (28) of the door frame (2). The axial length of a horizontal gauge (9) locked at the door frame is adjusted, and the angle portion is connected to a support portion (10) for supporting a bracket. A clamping or tensioning unit (12) is accommodated at the support portion for supporting the angle portion at an outer corner (4) of the door frame. An independent claim is included for method for mounting door frame on wall opening.
