Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2010130509A1] A container formed from a rigid material comprising an inner base defining a space for storing smoking articles, configured to stand vertically on a flat surface is disclosed. The container further comprises a cover that fits over the inner base to extend over a major portion of the inner base, wherein the inner base includes an enlarged lower end such that the cover abuts said lower end when the cover is fitted over the inner base when the container is closed.
