Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2436282A1] The apparatus has a hollow body comprising an electric motor (15) associated with a worm train rotatably driving a rotary mechanical depilation head (10). The body comprises two half-shells (2), which combinedly define a depilation chamber opened at the level of a depilation window defined by an edge of each half-shell. The head is placed at inside the window to be flush at the level of the window. One of the half-shells integrates support bearings (11, 12, 29-32) supporting the head and/or the worm train and/or ribs (16) for immobilizing the motor.
