Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2436826A1] A washing machine comprises a tub in which a drum is rotatably mounted and driven by transmission means provided between two bearings supporting a shaft of the drum, and an electric motor driving such transmission means. The motor is mounted in a space comprised between a rear end of the tub and a supporting dish-shaped element carrying one of the bearing, a second bearing being supported by the rear end of the tub.
