Abstract (en)

[origin: EP2449926A1] The bedding has a bedding surface with a plane portion (1) supporting back of an infant and another contiguous plane portion (2) oriented in an inverse slope. The portions form a setting zone for buttocks of the infant. The former portion emerges on a support zone (4') e.g. head rest, for supporting the infant's head at a level lower than top of the former portion. Top of the latter portion emerges on a part (5) descending toward an end of the bedding. An upper cover is provided with the bedding surface covering an upper surface of a lower cover forming a base of the bedding. The upper cover is made of viscoelastic foam.
