Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2449949A2] The household dishwasher has dish basket with inlet pipe (7) connected to one of the exhaust openings (29) of supply line, relative to horizontal and tilting positions of basket. The inlet pipe is coupled with connecting element of one exhaust opening, and another exhaust opening is locked by closing element (27), when basket is at horizontal position. The rotational angle displacement of connecting element relative to exhaust opening is performed by a positioning device (31), when basket is moved to tilting position from horizontal position.
