Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2011006766A2] A support for refrigerated products in a refrigeration appliance, in particular a domestic refrigeration appliance, comprises a plate, strips extending in the direction of the depth of the plate, and two bows that can be independently swiveled between a position in which the bows extend parallel to the plate and a position in which the bows project from the plate. At least the front bow rests against a stop in the projecting position of the bow.
