Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2460947A2] The unit (10) has a profile device (22) including a support profile (24) attached to a supporting structure (36). The support profile frames an upper end region (20) of a glass disk (18) with a lower region of the support profile from a side of the glass disk, where the lower region is formed by a vertical leg of an angle profile. The profile device includes another support profile (26) attached to the former support profile. The latter support profile frames the upper end region of the glass disk with another vertical leg from another side resting against the former side.
