Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2465589A1] The article (1) has a lateral guide (40) whose complementary positioning units e.g. holes, cooperate with associated positioning units e.g. screws (50a, 50b), of a sports board (20) to adjust position of the guide on the board. The units are arranged to allow positioning of the guide in longitudinal position (D1) or another longitudinal position by cooperating with the associated units. The latter position constitutes 180 degree rotation of the guide relative to a rotational axis (X1G) perpendicular to a top surface (21) of the board with respect to the former longitudinal position.
