Abstract (en)

The present invention provides a wine cooler shelf arrangement having a plurality of linearly extending parallel shelf members delimited by frontal and rear aluminum profiles. Said shelf arrangement is also supported by lateral support members, which extend parallel to said shelf members at both sides thereof. Said lateral support members are mechanically connected to the frontal and rear profiles. Said lateral support members comprise an emptied rear slit on the underside of said members for receiving a stopping claw, a guiding claw for engaging with a support rail displaceably carrying said shelf arrangement and a front opening for receiving respective claws on said support rail.
