Abstract (en)

[origin: WO2011021013A1] A method of curling hair comprises coiling a portion of hair around an elongate rod (10) formed of heat resistant material and applying a heated hair styling iron (20) to the hair to heat the hair for a period of time sufficient to set the curl in the hair. The hair styling iron and the rod are then removed from the hair. The invention further includes a hair curling device comprising a rod as well as a kit for curling hair comprising a hair curling device of the invention and a hair styling iron.
