Abstract (en)
[origin: WO2011020807A1] The invention relates to an extractor hood, in particular a chimney-type extractor hood, comprising an extractor box (2) and a capture panel (4), characterised in that the extractor box (2) forms a base structure at least with an inner frame (3) and the capture panel (4) is detachably secured to said base structure. The invention also relates to a kit for extractor hoods comprising an inner frame (3) and an extractor box (2), characterised in that the inner frame (3) and the extractor box (2) are used to produce a base structure and the kit comprises at least two capture panels (4) for detachably securing to said base structure. The invention further relates to a method for mounting an extractor hood.
