Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2474679A1] The roofing system has one fastening element (2) formed in lath-shape and formed with a supporting surface for fixing the roof substructure connectable mounting portion and a fixing portion with the aid of a shingle (5). A mounting slot is formed between the mounting and fixing portions and extended in longitudinal direction of fastening element. A connecting portion is pressed into the slot to form a clamping connection (13). The support surface is parallel to the longitudinal axis of fixed reed-blades.
