Abstract (en)
[origin: EP2484257A2] The device has a tub (2) with a depressed entry region closed by a movable door e.g. sliding door, in water-proof manner. One of side walls (2a) of the tub is provided with an opening (2b), which extends over an entire length and a depth of the side walls. The door covers a half of the opening. Another half of the opening is closed by a separate and fixedly mounted component in water-proof manner. A bulge (7) is provided in a middle region of the opening between a region of the door and the component, and includes a height upto a height of remaining walls of the tub and/or a middle column (8). The tub is made of a plastic material.
