Abstract (en)

This invention concerns a chimney attachment for fitting to a chimney to support a flue liner in the chimney, the flue liner and chimney defining a space (15) therebetween. The chimney attachment may comprise a support (150) for supporting the flue liner (10) in the chimney (20) and may be arranged such that connection of the flue liner (10) to the support (150) provides a first outlet (114) in gaseous communication with the flue liner (10) for venting flue gases to atmosphere and a second outlet (112) in gaseous communication with the space (15) between the flue liner (10) and the chimney (20) to vent gases in the space (15) to atmosphere. The invention also concerns a method of fitting a flue liner into a chimney.
